Brief Statement of Mennonite Doctrine

This is a summary statement based on the confession of faith adopted by Mennonite General Conference in 1963. For the complete text see the Mennonite Confession of Faith. (Herald Press, paper, $1.95, in Canada $2.80)

1. We believe in one God eternally existing as Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

2. We believe that God has revealed himself in the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, the inspired Word of God, and supremely in his Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

3. We believe that in the beginning God created all things by his Son. He made man in the divine image, with free will, moral character, and a spiritual nature.

4. We believe that man fell into sin, bringing depravity and death upon the race; that as sinner, man is self-centered and self-willed, unwilling and unable to break with sin.

5. We believe that there is one Mediator between God and men, the Man Christ Jesus, who died to redeem us from sin and arose for our justification.

6. We believe that salvation is by grace through faith in Christ, a free gift bestowed by God on those who repent and believe.

7. We believe that the Holy Spirit convicts of sin, effects the new birth, gives guidance in life, empowers for service, and enables perseverance in faith and holiness.

8. We believe that the church is the body of Christ, the brotherhood of the redeemed, a disciplined people obedient to the Word of God, and a fellowship of love, intercession, and healing.

9. We believe that Christ commissioned the church to go into all the world, making disciples of all the nations, and ministering to every human need.

10. We believe it is the will of God that there should be ministers to teach the Word, to serve as leaders, to administer the ordinances, to lead the church in the exercise of discipline, and to serve as pastors and teachers.

11. We believe that those who repent and believe should be baptized with water as a symbol of baptism with the Spirit, cleansing from sin, and commitment to Christ.

12. We believe that the church should observe the communion of the Lord's Supper as a symbol of his broken body and shed blood, and of the fellowship of his church, until his return.

13. We believe in the washing of the saints' feet as a symbol of brotherhood, cleansing, and service, and in giving the right hand of fellowship and the holy kiss as symbols of Christian love.

14. We believe that God has established unique roles for man and woman, symbolized by man's bared head in praying and prophesying, and by woman's veiled head.

15. We believe that Christian marriage is intended by God to be the union of one man and one woman for life, and that Christians shall marry only in the Lord.

16. We believe that Christians are not to be conformed to the world, but should seek to conform to Christ in every area of life.

17. We believe that Christians are to be open and transparent in life, ever speaking the truth, and employing no oaths.

18. We believe that it is the will of God for Christians to refrain from force and violence in human relations and to show Christian love to all men.

19. We believe that the state is ordained of God to maintain order in society, and that Christians should honor rulers, be subject to authorities, witness to the state, and pray for governments.

20. We believe that at death the unsaved enter into everlasting punishment and the saved into conscious bliss with Christ, who is coming again, and will raise the dead, sit in judgment, and bring in God's everlasting kingdom.

About the cover: Orie O. Miller conferring with Peter J. Dyck. In 1995 two major inter-Mennonite agencies will celebrate anniversaries. Mennonite Central Committee (MCC) will reach its 75th, and Mennonite Mutual Aid (MMA) will achieve its 50th year. Appropriate observances to mark this milestone are being planned by each for 1995. A major player in the events which led to their formation and in the shaping of their ministries was Orie O. Miller.

Paul Erb reported in Orie O. Miller, The Story of a Man and an Era (Herald Press, 1969) that Miller, after serving in relief efforts in the Near East, Constantinople, and Russia from 1919 to 1921, became assistant to the executive secretary of MCC in 1921. Orie was appointed executive secretary in 1935 and served in that role until 1958. Prior to the formation of MMA, Miller nurtured the vision of the church sharing in the financial and insurance needs of its members. When MMA was organized in 1945, Miller served as its first board president and occupied that post until 1962.

In addition to these ministries, Miller was also active and creative in the peace, educational, publication, and mission interests of the Mennonite Church.

Foreword

The Mennonite Publishing House is pleased to present the 1995 Mennonite Yearbook. This volume reports the current leadership, organizational entities, and the statistical record of the life of the Mennonite Church (MC) in Canada and the United States. Local, conference, churchwide, and worldwide dimensions are included. The Mennonite Yearbook also reflects the many ways in which the Mennonite Church interacts with, and relates to, the broader family of Mennonite church bodies.

This volume

In this volume users will see that we have continued our annual schedule as well as our usual directories of information. As usual there are changes which have occurred since one year ago. These include the following:

First, the Conservative Mennonite Conference is now listed as one of the Other Mennonite Bodies. It joins the Beachy Amish Church and the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church as an independent fraternal Mennonite body. This move is the result of action by the Conservative Mennonite Conference to formalize relationships within the Mennonite family. This conference is now considered one of the world bodies that relates to Mennonite World Conference. Since 1955 member and related statistics of the Conservative Mennonite Conference have been included with Mennonite Church totals. With this volume their information will be no longer carried in this way.

Second, the Puerto Rico Mennonite Conference (Convención Iglesias Evangélicas Menonitas de Puerto Rico) has joined the Mennonite Church General Assembly as a participating conference. Their information is now carried in the "Directory of Conference and Congregations" as well as in related entries in other directories. With headquarters in Aibonito, Puerto Rico, this body includes 11 congregations, 516 members and 13 ministers. Their ministry is coordinated by José Luis Vásquez, conference administrator and conference minister. We welcome their participation in the ministry of the Mennonite Church in North America and throughout the world.

Third, during 1994 two conferences have followed the lead of the Mennonite Conference of Eastern Canada by becoming the second and third integrated GC/MC conference entities. This is the result of the merger of the Southwest Mennonite Conference (MC), the Pacific Coast Mennonite Conference (MC) and the Pacific District Conference (GC). This action resulted in the formation of two integrated conference bodies. They are: (1) Pacific Northwest Mennonite Conference serving the northwestern areas of Idaho, Oregon, and Washington. This new body counts 2877 members in 33 congregations with a ministerial body of 63; (2) Pacific Southwest Mennonite Conference serves the southwestern areas of Arizona and California. This new body is home to 2989 members in 48 congregations and has a ministerial body of 73.

The total number of integrated congregations in the above three conferences stands at 173; total integrated members is 19,346. In addition, as the listing of Dual-Affiliated, MC and GC indicates, an additional 74 MC congregations maintain formal ties with the GCs. Thus 247 out of the MC total of 1110 congregations carry dual relationships with the GCs.

How does the integration of these three conferences affect membership totals in relation to GC and MC denominational statistics? Through 1993, Mennonite Conference of Eastern Canada denominational totals were based on the historic relationship of each congregation, that is, former GC congregations were counted with Other Mennonite totals and former MC congregations were counted with Mennonite Church totals. In 1994 this policy was changed in order to reflect the equality in these relationships. Now the membership of congregations who belong to integrated conferences are divided equally between GC and MC denominational totals. Based on the 1993 memberships of these three conference the Other Mennonite total was increased by 2455 and the Mennonite Church total was decreased by 2456.

Fourth, the listing of Mutual Aid and Insurance Organizations has been renamed "Mutual Aid, Insurance, and Financial Service Organizations." This is in recognition that this listing carries within it organizations that provide a broad range of services to individuals, families, and congregations. Member organizations of the Association of Mennonite Aid Societies (AMAS) have been identified.

Fifth, in an effort to conserve space, readers will note that in the congregational entries found in the Directory of Urban and Area Organizations only the minister who carries function 1 is listed. Since all of these congregations are listed in full in conference directories, we felt that this was one place where we could tighten up things a bit. In the General Information and Statistics segment, the affiliations of congregations are included while the affiliations of members are not.

Board of Education. Al has held this post since 1967. In "Trends and Challenges," Meyer offers his assessment of the changes and developments that he has seen over the years and which remain on our agenda as a people.

In "Mennonite Church 1995," James M Lapp, general secretary of the Mennonite Church General Board, summarizes key junctures that will be reached in 1995. Together the church will observe several significant endings and beginnings.

On the cover is noted the anniversaries reached by two key church agencies in which many Mennonite Church members have participated—Mennonite Central Committee (75th year) and Mennonite Mutual Aid (50th year). Service "in the name of Christ" and mutual aid "bearing one another's burdens" are two important contributions which Mennonites have made to all of Christendom and to the whole world. These agencies will lead us as we continue on this path in the future.

A look at the numbers

At the end of 1994, conferences related to Mennonite Church General Assembly (excluding the Conservative Mennonite Conference, see the first item under "This volume" earlier in this foreword) included 96,276 members (7,788 in Canada; 87,911 in the United States; and 577 in other countries) 1110 congregations (111 in Canada; 983 in the United States; and 17 in other countries). In addition to these members, there are 12,427 who are part of other Mennonite bodies and 1,605 who are members of other Christian bodies that relate to MC congregations. Using the full membership of 110,308 as a base, the average size of Mennonite congregations stands at 99 members; the median size is 60 members.

In 1992, giving to the church averaged $909.60 per member. In 1993 the level of giving was $906.69 per member. In 1985 our per member giving was $615.33.

Size of congregations, including church plantings, range from 68 with no members to nine that are 600 and above. Congregations are located in all sizes of communities; however, more than half (643) are found in those communities whose population is less than 50,000.

The 17 conferences who consider themselves to be part of the Mennonite Church family but have chosen not to participate in the program of Mennonite Church General Assembly number 18,692 members (2,325 in Canada; 15,782 in the United States; and 423 in other countries) in 373 congregations (51 in Canada; 292 in the United States; and 30 in other countries).

Creating this volume

This 83rd volume of the Mennonite Yearbook involved much effort by many people. First, our thanks to congregational statisticians who provided detailed information about their churches. Their hours of labor made possible this important record for the broader church. Thanks also to the representatives of Mennonite conferences, churchwide boards, and agencies who supplied information about their programs. Finally, special thanks to Brenda Martin, new editorial assistant; in addition to her duties in the subscription office at MPH, she learned the ropes quickly in bringing together the information in this volume. Thanks also to Deborah Cameron who picked up on correspondence and related duties this year. Thanks also to many other Mennonite Publishing House staff who, as usual, worked together under an intensive schedule to make this volume available to you in a timely fashion.

Your feedback

Your comments are welcome. Let us know what is useful in this volume as well as what is not. We know that many changes occur between the time information is collected and the time it is published. Inform us of changes in congregational, ministerial, conference, board, and agency listings, as soon as they occur. Your thoughtfulness and assistance will enhance the work of all of us to provide a clearer and more accurate picture of who we are, one family in the household of God's people.—James E. Horsch ■

The Mennonite Church 1995

by James M. Lapp
General Secretary, Mennonite Church

For the Mennonite Church 1995 is a momentous year. In the providence of God and the proclivities of history, numerous strategic issues and events converge to create for us an unusual year of opportunities and challenges.

A year of culmination

This is a year when four long-term projects reach their conclusion. First, since 1985 the twin goals of growing in stewardship and witness provided focus for the energies of the denomination, many area conferences, and some congregations. An evaluation of these efforts will be reported to the 1995 General Assembly at Wichita.

A second project to be finished is the new "Confession of Faith in a Mennonite Perspective." Work on this statement began in 1986. The church exhibited high interest in this project, offering much counsel and affirmation in shaping the final document. Sadly, Marlin Miller, co-chair of the committee and member of the writers group, died this past year before this project was completed. He left us an enormous labor of love in this document which now awaits formal acceptance at Wichita 95.

A third activity, conducted largely behind the scenes, is the drafting of a new statement entitled "A Mennonite Polity for Ministerial Leadership." Since 1987 a group of pastors and church agency administrators have been attempting to define patterns and offices of leadership for Mennonite congregations for the next few decades. In 1995 the General Board will act in behalf of the denomination to approve this formative document.

Fourth, since 1989 an MC/GC Integration Exploration Committee has been leading the church in discernment of the character of future relationships between the Mennonite Church and the General Conference Mennonite Church. After testing a series of tentative recommendations with conferences, a revised proposal will be considered by the 1995 General Assembly. While the current commitment to explore integration concludes at Wichita, it is unclear at this writing what the nature of MC/GC connections will be in the years to come.

A year of celebration

Nineteen ninety-five is a year of celebration. First, beginning in 1920, in response to a famine among our Mennonite brothers and sisters in the Ukraine, the Mennonite Central Committee was formed and has grown to become a $34 million program involving nearly 1000 workers around the globe. A series of events will occur in 1995 celebrating the blessings of God and the generosity of the church through the ministries of MCC.

We face the challenge of acting wisely and confidently with the plentiful agenda before us as a Mennonite church.

A second milestone being commemorated in 1995 is the 50th anniversary of Mennonite Mutual Aid. This giant program (by Mennonite standards) took root in 1945 as an effort to assist Civilian Public Service workers in their transition to other ways of life. Currently MMA reports more than 70,000 members and manages over one-half billion dollar assets for the church. We are invited to join in celebrating the mutual aid and stewardship services being offered to our congregations and institutions through MMA.

A year of commencement

This is also a commencement year, not in the traditional sense of a graduation, but rather in marking the beginning of a new era. To be sure a new confession of faith and leadership polity statement will reshape our identity in the years to come. Presumably new steps in MC/GC relations will occur in the coming years. But possessing even more potential for beckoning us into the future is a new statement of vision prepared for confirmation at Wichita 95. Vision: Healing and Hope presents a brief statement of who we are and who we might become, along with six priorities for the church. The proposal is that this statement focus the church's life and plans into the next century, until 2005.

The message of Vision: Healing and Hope is very simple and succinct:

God calls us to be followers of Jesus Christ and, by the power of the Holy Spirit, to grow as communities of grace, joy,
        and peace,
    so that God's healing and hope flow through us to the world.

In his 1994 book, In Search of the Church (Alban Institute), Keith A. Russell writes, "After

Trends and Challenges

by Albert J. Meyer, executive secretary,
Mennonite Board of Education

In 1982, before we were guided by churchwide vision statements, one member of the Mennonite Board of Education (MBE) surprised me with this question: "What do you see as the major challenges before the Mennonite Church?" After several days of reflection, I responded with an answer which included six points. Two years later, MBE did workshops on trends and vision with two congregations, a group from an eastern conference, the staff leaders of the Mennonite Church General Board and the five program boards, MBE churchwide school administrators, and the Mennonite Board of Education as a board. We felt we needed to do this to keep our school programs focused on the needs and opportunities of the church. From these contacts we found a remarkable consensus in the observations and vision of all participants.

While these findings were more detailed than my personal observations in 1982, they confirmed all six of the major points. Now I am invited to reflect on some longer-term trends I have seen in the Mennonite Church and on the challenges before us at this time. I return to the six points which I stated in 1982 and will reflect on each one.

1. We need change in our patterns of congregational leadership.

We need strong congregations. To have strong congregations, we need strong leaders. Discerning leadership gifts and calling gifted members to leadership are important. But we face a more fundamental problem. Our leaders have been experiencing abnormal degrees of stress. We continue to have too many involuntary terminations of pastors—firings. The stresses are reflected in our congregational life in two ways: first, experienced leaders are lost to our congregations, and second, too many gifted young people who witness these happenings conclude that they should enter other areas of work in which their gifts could be better appreciated and used.

In earlier times, we followed the pattern of the plural ministry of gifted members who were recognized for their leadership in the life of the community. This pattern has now given way to the single-pastor-plus-board model of leadership. And many of our most gifted members, who earlier would have become congregational leaders, have instead thought that their gifts could best be used in medicine, education, other professions, and business.

> We need to call one another to new levels of Christian faithfulness in God's name and as God has given us light

Most of our people did not reflect on the full impact of this change in leadership pattern until the late 1980s. At that time MBE was requested by the general boards of the Mennonite Church and the General Conference Mennonite Church to undertake the "Pastorate Project" to begin a long-term process of needed change. Staff members of the Mennonite Board of Congregational Ministries are now carrying forward the work begun by the Pastorate Project in the Mennonite Church through workshops with conference and cluster leaders. John Martin's book Calling the Called (Mennonite Publishing House, 1990) outlines a tested congregational plan for calling members to ministry. The GC-MC leadership polity committee has incorporated aspects of this vision in its recent drafts. While we have always anticipated that change in these established patterns could well take a decade or two to implement, we have begun the process.

2. We need patterns of congregational life that enhance mutual discipling and use of the gifts of all members.

In the past we emphasized the need to express Christian discipleship in our daily life in the world. We underscored the need to live under the mutual discipline of our brothers and sisters. Doing so may have been easier when most of us were farmers and we lived in home communities with our uncles and aunts. Now many of our members serve in occupations that involve mobility and a high level of professionalism. What patterns of congregational life will serve us as we move from place to place and when we spend most of our waking hours in specialized occupations in which we face challenges our brothers and sisters can hardly understand?

At the heart of the Anabaptist-Mennonite vision is a church of adult members who support one another and hold one another accountable for Christian faithfulness. We live in a world that does not make a Christian confession and is, indeed, sometimes hostile. How can we best help one another face personal issues? Questions about the use of a member's dollars in buying a house, for example, can hardly be given adequate attention in a sermon for the whole congregation. Small groups were discouraged as divisive as recently as the late 1950s. Now we have come to see that we need small group settings to deal with practical life decisions. We sense that good small groups or cell groups are important for healthy congregational life. Some Sunday school classes are able to deal with daily challenges in our weekly Sunday morning meetings. Some congregations now provide individual and family counseling resources for our people. Our schools can play an important role in undergirding our life and mission as a people.

The "good old days" were not ideal. Patterns of congregational, conference, and churchwide life often did not adequately recognize and use the gifts of women. We need the encouragement and exercise of the God-given gifts of all of our members to face the challenges of our times.

Individualism is one of the most fundamental characteristics of Western culture. Now more observers are saying that our society needs a new sense of community. An important component of the good news we bring in these times is the word and demonstration that God is at work in the world bringing us together in communities of members who love and care for one another.

3. We need patterns for personal and family spiritual life that appropriately express our Anabaptist-Mennonite vision of discipleship and life in community.

In the past many of our families gathered at the table once a day for a time of Bible reading, meditation, and prayer. Many churches held midweek prayer meetings. Now many of our families do not have a daily meal together, and many churches no longer have midweek meetings. But many are sensing the need for regular personal times to develop a more intimate, trusting walk with God. In response spiritual retreat centers have emerged; our schools are offering courses in prayer and spirituality; members are seeking spiritual directors and prayer partners; and the Mennonite Board of Congregational Ministries now has a minister of worship and spirituality. In 1990 the Mennonite Church and the General Conference Mennonite Church appointed a Spirituality Reference Council. One of the fruits of its work is the prayer guide, based on John 13-17, Praying with the Anabaptists (Faith & Life Press, 1994). Another contribution to our spirituality is Readings from Mennonite Writings, New and Old (Good Books, 1992). In it Craig Haas has selected, from Anabaptist and Mennonite writings, a reading for each day of the calendar year. Through these efforts we are seeking to counter the spirit of our age, which is one of doing, rather than relating and being; and one of producing, rather than of meditating and listening in prayer.

4. We need to handle our financial resources as God's managers, rather than as owners.

The average holdings of longer-term members of the Mennonite Church have increased substantially in recent decades. Farm lands have been sold for urban development. Many businesses have prospered. Many of our professionals have had the opportunity to assume the lifestyles of their peers. In the larger society, the rich have become richer, and the gap between the rich and the poor has increased. Most Mennonites have not been among the poor. Stewardship was chosen in 1985 as one of the two foci of Vision 95. Our survey data show that Mennonites were giving less than 7 percent of their incomes in the late 1980s. At the time of the Vision 95 midcourse checkup around 1990, it was found that the percentage had not changed.

Can Mennonites swim against the stream in this area of the Christian life? The flow of the stream in the larger society is clear. In its June 8, 1992, issue, Newsweek summarized the situation in the U.S. succinctly, " 'Greed is good' was the '80s analogue to the '60s 'Do your own thing' (and the '70s 'You can have it all'). . . . Their most visible legacy is the $4 trillion national debt that stands as a metaphor for the moral deficit incurred during the nation's 30-year spree."

We are indeed dealing with a moral and spiritual problem. Some individuals and congregations are giving more. Stewardship workshops have helped, but we need to go further. Stewardship is now listed as one of six priorities in "Vision: Healing and Hope," the new vision statement being proposed for the years after 1995.

5. We need a new vision for working together in the larger church.

In our reaction against some older and authoritarian leadership patterns of church life, we have moved toward an extreme congregationalism. The result is that our congregations and their leaders discovered that they did not have the support they needed to face the problems of these fast-changing times.

Recent trends in our giving patterns reflect the individualism and "localism" of the society around us. Correcting for inflation, we see that individual giving to churchwide efforts is up; congregational offering-plate giving to these efforts is down. Expenditures for local efforts are up; those for conference efforts are down somewhat; and those for churchwide efforts are even lower. We are not sure how to provide long-term funding for the Mennonite World Conference of our brothers and sisters around the world.

The society around us is ambivalent about larger corporate efforts. North Americans say they want less government. At the same time, we increasingly live in a mass culture, watching the same newscasts, football games, and TV shows. Should each of our 1,110 congregations (median size of 60 members) go it alone in the development of TV programs or spots? Should each produce its own Sunday school materials? Can each congregation sponsor its own theological seminary? Some things can and should be done more locally and some things cannot. If we want to face the challenges of the larger culture, we will have to combine local initiatives with appropriate ways of working together.

In the Old and New Testaments, the smaller groups of God's people were always viewed as interdependent parts of God's whole people. In the Old Testament, families, clans, and tribes were seen in the context of the whole people of God. In the New Testament, local bodies of believers functioned interdependently as parts of the total church of Jesus Christ. These questions are receiving some attention among us. Mennonite Church and General Conference groups are working together in new ways. Some conferences are gaining new strength. The proposed new MC-GC polity statement emphasizes ways congregations can be mutually accountable and have the support they need to be lively centers of Christian faithfulness and renewal.

The older state churches typically assumed that they were the only legitimate churches in their territories. The Anabaptists, by contrast, did not see the church of Jesus Christ as limited geographically or denominationally. They repeatedly called upon others, even their persecutors, to consider with them what they saw as God's call to all of them to greater Christian faithfulness. Some Mennonites are doing this today, especially overseas. Just as individual brothers and sisters need to support and counsel one another in congregations, representatives of our congregations and conferences need to speak and listen to our counterparts in other church bodies around us. We need to call one another to new levels of Christian faithfulness in God's name and as God has given us light.

6. We need to be more articulate in putting the good news into words as well as deeds in our time.

We are ready to express ourselves through the good work of the Mennonite Central Committee around the world and through the fine work of the Mennonite Disaster Service at home. But many of our members spend their energies in reacting against forms of evangelism they encountered in earlier days and dishonest TV preachers of more recent times. We say we want to be culturally sensitive; we do not want to force our beliefs on others. We are not sure how to share our faith in words.

"Mission" was adopted in 1985 as one of the two foci of Vision 95. Inviting others to faith in Jesus Christ is one of the six priorities in the proposed 1995 statement on Vision: Healing and Hope. The widespread adoption of the Living in Faithful Evangelism (LIFE) process by 200 congregations in the last several years is a clear word that many of our people have wanted to move to a future in which they are more ready to share the good news with those around us in word and deed.

In Conclusion

Change has been occurring. We have been dealing with some of the challenges of the past. I believe we are sensing a call to further change and growth in faithfulness as we face the future. ■ visiting hundreds of churches and talking with at least that many clergy, I have been forced to conclude that the church is undergoing a drought—a drought of the imagination. Very few pictures focusing on the future are being constructed in congregations. Too often there is instead exorbitant attention paid to the past, with a good deal of grumbling about the present. . . . We are stuck with what we have if we cannot see beyond it. Stuck is how many congregations feel; they do not like where they are nor what they have become, but they cannot see beyond themselves. If we could imagine a new future, we might be able to embody it or at least move toward it. Beyond a doubt it is within our power to dream new dreams and have a new vision if we so desire" (pp. 97-98).

Vision: Healing and Hope offers language and themes which connect to the past and draw us into the future. However, no statement on paper replaces creative minds and imaginative hearts stimulated by the Holy Spirit to envision what the church might become. The tendencies toward repetitive behaviors and resistance to change present formidable challenges to the church. As Kathleen Norris observes in Dakota: A Spiritual Geography (Ticknor & Fields, 1993), "The sad truth is that the harder we resist change, and the more we resent anyone who demands change of us, the more we shortchange ourselves." Instead of shortchanging ourselves and future generations, we do well to act with courage, imagination, and hope in living into the purposes of God for the church in the coming years.

Future historians will determine just how momentous 1995 truly turns out to be. Meanwhile, we face the challenge of acting wisely and confidently with the plentiful agenda before us as a Mennonite Church. ■

Directory of North American Congregations

This directory lists Mennonite Church congregations alphabetically according to the country (Canada, United States, and other), state or province, and city in which they are located. This directory includes all Mennonite Church congregations listed in the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations," "Directory of Urban and Area Organizations and Congregations," and "Directory of Other Mennonite Church Conferences." Also listed are congregations carried in the "Directory of Other Mennonite Bodies." These Mennonite bodies include the Beachy Amish Church (BA), Conservative Mennonite Conference (CM), and Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church (EP).

Finally, listed in this directory are congregations affiliated with church bodies that may relate to Mennonite World Conference. These include Bergthaler Mennonite Churches (BMC), Brethren in Christ (BIC), Church of God in Christ Mennonite (CGCM), Conference of Mennonites in Canada (CMC), Evangelical Mennonite Church (EMC), Evangelical Mennonite Conference of Canada (EMCC), Evangelical Mennonite Mission Conference of Canada (EMMC), Fellowship of Evangelical Bible Churches (FEBC), General Conference Mennonite (GC), Hutterian Brethren (HB), Mennonite Brethren (MB), Old Order Mennonites (OOM), Old Order River Brethren (OORB), Reinland Mennonite Church of Canada (RMCC), and United Zion Church (UZC). While these congregations are integrated with Mennonite Church congregations, the information about them is limited to their location, name, and affiliation.

The purpose of this directory is to provide information regarding the location of the meetinghouse. It is designed to assist readers in their efforts to find or contact the congregation at its place of meeting. This is not a mailing address. All mail should be sent to the address listed under the congregation in one of the directories listed in the first paragraph. Readers desiring to get in touch with the pastor or contact person of a congregation should follow the information provided in these same directories. (See page 6 for an explanation of the conference and church body codes used.)

Effort was made to secure complete and accurate information about each congregation listed. If there are errors and/or missing data, please provide full information to the editor, Mennonite Yearbook, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale PA 15683-1999. Directory of Conferences and Congregations

Related to Mennonite Church General Assembly

This directory lists Mennonite Church conferences alphabetically. Within each conference, congregations are listed alphabetically by name. Listed with the congregation is the person designated as the primary leader who carries the ministerial function code (1) and those who carry active responsibility (2). For a complete list of ministers see the "Ministerial Directory."

Conferences who do not participate in the program of the Mennonite Church General Assembly are included in the "Directory of Other Mennonite Church Conferences."

The purpose of this directory is to provide all information necessary to contact a given congregation. The mailing address and telephone number listed is the one designated by the congregation as its official contact. This may be the pastor's office, residence, meetinghouse, church office, or another location. Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Directory of North American Congregations." (See page 6 for an explanation of the conference codes used.)

An example of a complete congregational listing in this directory is as follows:

Directory of Urban and Area Organizations and Congregations

This directory lists urban councils and area organizations alphabetically. Within each organization, congregations are listed alphabetically. Listed with each congregation is the person designated as the primary leader who carries the ministerial function code (1). For a complete list of ministers see the "Ministerial Directory."

The purpose of this directory is to identify those informal and emerging bodies which are developing within the life of the church in urban centers as well as in areas where congregations with a variety of conference affiliations and church bodies are located. Also included are those congregations identified by a common ethnic background, a common bond such as inter-Mennonite cooperation, and a common task such as church planting efforts. Most congregations are members of, and hold primary affiliation with, a Mennonite Church conference, other Mennonite or Christian body.

For an example of a complete listing in this directory see the first page of the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations."

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Date founded: 1987

Purpose: to establish a network of urban Anabaptist (MC/GC/CB) multiracial, multicultured, new and renewed congregations which invite persons to wholeness in Christ. Other Anabaptist organizations are invited to request participation in the outreach of MMID.

Annual year: July 1 - June 30

Congregations: Congregations listed in this group are not organizationally tied together. This entry is included in order to document the degree to which Mennonite Church congregations are related to the General Conference Mennonite Church. Since the Mennonite Conference of Eastern Canada (92 congregations and 13,480 members), the Pacific Northwest Mennonite Conference (33 congregations and 2877 members), and the Pacific Southwest Mennonite Conference (48 congregations and 2989 members) are integrated MC-GC conferences, none of their congregations and members are included in this listing.

History: Since 1962, new and established congregations have affiliated with more than one Mennonite body in order to retain historic ties with the Mennonite group of origin as well as to promote Mennonite unity.

ORGANIZATIONS

Center for Anabaptist Studies, (CAS), is the arm of the Council of Anabaptists in Los Angeles (CAL) through which partnerships are established with seminaries and colleges to provide Theological Education and Leadership Development in an urban context.

Initiative 2000 is the Evangelism and Church Development arm of CAL through which partnerships are established with mission agencies to start new churches in the urban area.

Shalom Homes, Inc., responds to the needs of abused children through a group home ministry.

Shalom Ministries, Inc., is the arm of CAL through which Church-based Community Development is done by seeking to locally develop ministries of relief, reconciliation, and development in concert with Anabaptist congregations.

Pastor's Round Table is a forum that responds to the needs of pastors through prayer and fellowship.

For information on specific projects within each organization, please call the CAL office.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Date founded: 1987.

Purpose: An organization of representatives from Native American congregations relating to the Mennonite Church. The council meets semiannually for work on issues related to Native American Ministries, promotes leadership training and development, assists with congregational resources and seminars, serves as an advocate with conferences and churchwide agencies. Sponsors inter-tribal fellowships with a biennial assembly. It is the channel for relating to the Mennonite Indian Leaders Council and Native Ministries of Canada programs of the GC as well as to other denominational programs.

Publication: United Native Ministries Newsletter (quarterly), Ruth Horst, editor, 2121 Hawthorne Dr, Elkhart IN 46517 (219 295-8530).

Report Congregational and Ministerial Changes

The Mennonite Yearbook maintains the official listing of Mennonite Church congregations and ministers. Should there be a change in the congregational address, telephone number, ministerial leadership, or any other details of its listing, please report these changes to the Mennonite Yearbook office as soon as possible. In order to enter changes properly the Mennonite Yearbook office needs the old information that is being replaced along with the new information which updates it.

The same request applies to ministers. Any change in the minister's address, telephone, office, function, congregational membership, conference affiliation, and other details are to be reported to the Mennonite Yearbook office as soon as possible. Please submit current information with the new information which replaces it.

Send all communications to 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683-1999, or call us at 412-887-8500; send it e-mail to HORSCH%5904477@mcimail.com; or send it via fax to 412-887-3111. Also notify your conference secretary or office of these changes. Your conference secretary or office and the Mennonite Yearbook office work together closely to insure the complete accuracy of congregational and ministerial listings.

Directory of Other Mennonite Church Conferences

Not Related to Mennonite Church General Assembly

This directory lists Mennonite Church conferences alphabetically by name of conference or fellowship. Within each one, congregations are listed alphabetically. Listed with the congregation is the person designated as the primary contact who carries the ministerial function code (1) and those who carry active responsibility (2). For a complete list of ministers see the "Mennonite Church Ministerial Directory."

The purpose of this directory is to provide all the information necessary to contact a given congregation by mail or telephone without consulting other sections of the Yearbook. The mailing address and telephone number listed is the one designated by the congregation as its official contact. This may be the pastor's office, residence, meetinghouse, church office, or another location or person. Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Directory of North American Congregations" section. (See page 6 for an explanation of the conference codes used.)

For an example of a complete congregational listing in this directory see the first page of the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations."

Directory of Mennonite Church Organizations and Related Ministries

The ministry and mission of the Mennonite Church is carried out through churchwide boards listed in this directory. These are supported by contributions from the membership, with exception that the program of the Mennonite Mutual Aid Board is supported by enrollment in their services and the program of the Mennonite Publication Board is supported by purchases of books, curriculum materials, magazines, as well as job printing and mailing services. The Women's Missionary and Service Commission receives its income from other than congregational offerings.

The total of the 1995 combined operating budgets of the remaining churchwide agencies (listed below) is $46,133,150. These agencies budgeted $7,258,000 as income from congregational offerings as follows: Mennonite Board of Congregational Ministries, $628,900; Mennonite Board of Education, $103,000; minority leadership education, $210,000; colleges, $1,130,800; seminaries, $543,300; Mennonite Board of Missions, $4,172,000; Mennonite Church General Board, $367,700; Associate Groups—African-American Mennonite Association, $25,000; Hispanic Mennonite Convention, $55,000; United Native Ministries, $22,300.

Inter-Mennonite agencies approved for churchwide support include Mennonite Central Committee and Mennonite World Conference.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Founded: 1915; reorganized 1971.
Purpose and function: The vision for Women's Missionary and Service Commission centers on the three themes of Jesus' commandment for love of God, love of neighbor, and love of self. They are expressed in three areas as spiritual development, missions and service, and women supporting women. A monthly magazine, annual study guide, retreats, conferences and seminars, cash and material aid projects, scholarships, and networking are tools and methods used to encourage and carry out this vision.
Fiscal year: February 1 to January 31.
Publications: WMSC Voice, eleven issues per year; Program Resource, annual, published jointly with Women in Mission (GC).

Programs administered: Books Abroad and At Home; college, seminary, and graduate scholarships for women; new book allowance for overseas workers.

Urban Councils and Area Church Organizations

These organizations include cooperative efforts of congregations of more than one conference or church body as well as conference-level entities that include more than one conference or church body. Some of these relationships are recognized by the Mennonite Church General Board as successors to the regional structures which discontinued in 1983. Others are emerging programs and activities developing in geographic areas such as large urban centers. The General Board serves as a channel of communication to the Mennonite Church General Assembly for some of these organizations. Organizations are listed by area and name.

VIRGINIA

Fellowship of Concerned Mennonites (FCM), 1516 Hawthorn Ct, Harrisonburg VA 22801 (703 434-4007), George R Brunk II, executive director; Walter Beachy, president.

Founded 1984. The Fellowship is a coalition of like-minded Mennonites whose concerns focus upon the basic biblical tenets of faith which have been the foundations of the sector of the reformation of the sixteenth century known as the Anabaptist Movement, with special interest in that segment of Anabaptism called Mennonite. The Fellowship was formed because certain of those basic biblical tenets of faith long held as foundational more currently are being questioned, modified, or negated, and, because by general acknowledgment, the Mennonite Church membership contains a wide range of conservative elements on the one hand and liberal elements on the other, with the latter seemingly gaining the ascendency, and, because at issue is the control of thought through the schools and through the publication of literature, and, because in the present confusion of ideas, there is need for a fundamental, distinctive, proportional, and consistent articulation of faith. Publishes The Informer, a bimonthly with 6000 readers.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Date founded: 1905.

Purpose and function: The primary role of the Mennonite Board of Education is to consider Mennonite Church educational objectives and to provide for the best use of personnel and financial resources in meeting these objectives. It is responsible to the church for Hesston College, Goshen College, Eastern Mennonite University, and Goshen Biblical Seminary. In relation to these schools, the Mennonite Board of Education appoints the presidents and institutional board members; establishes broad basic policies; reviews and approves institutional goals and objectives, long-range program and budget planning, new academic programs; makes specific policy decisions as needed, especially on relationships among Mennonite educational institutions; and works with Mennonite Church General Board in communicating financial needs of the schools to the church.

The Mennonite Board of Education works in a coordinating and consulting relationship with the 14 high schools of the Mennonite Secondary Education Council and with the 25 elementary schools of the Mennonite Elementary Education Council.

The board meets quarterly, with the annual meeting in December or January.

Fiscal year: July 1-June 30.

1995 Special Days: Church School Day, February 5; Back to School Day, August 27.

1993-94 budget: $582,939. Additional funds in the amount of $271,072 are handled for minority education (including the High-Aim program).

Staff: full-time equivalent professional staff of 4.74.

Goshen Biblical Seminary

Goshen Biblical Seminary (GBS), a Mennonite Church school, and Mennonite Biblical Seminary (MBS), a General Conference Mennonite Church school, together comprise the integrated GC and MC Associated Mennonite Biblical Seminary (AMBS). AMBS is now recognized as one school by the Association of Theological Schools.

Members of the GBS Board of Overseers are accountable to the Mennonite Board of Education for the development of programs to meet the pastoral and theological education needs of the Mennonite Church. The GBS Board of Overseers and MBS Board of Trustees do most of their work jointly as the AMBS Board.

See the AMBS entry for the full listing of overseer/trustees, faculty, staff, academic programs, and other general information.

LEGAL ENTITIES

Mennonite Mutual Aid provides insurance products, financial services, charitable programs, and educational resources to help Mennonites and related groups practice the biblical principles of mutual aid and stewardship. To accomplish this, MMA programs operate through eight legal entities. The MMA Board of Directors serves as the board for each of the following:

Mennonite Mutual Aid, Inc.—Vehicle for office facilities, salary administration, and coordination of other MMA entities.

Mennonite Foundation, Inc.—Receives, manages, and distributes gifts of cash and property for Mennonite conferences and institutions.

Mennonite Mutual Aid Association—Fraternal benefit association; provides medical expense and life plans for individuals, congregations and institutions, and retirement plans for people with earned income.

Mennonite Automobile Aid, Inc.—Comprehensive and collision coverages, avoids litigation.

MMA Insurance Co.—Provides group health and life insurance plans for Mennonite employers.

Mennonite Retirement Trust—Trusteeship which provides church workers retirement plan.

Menno Insurance Service, Inc.—Stock corporation owned by MMA; provides employee benefits management, and property and casualty risk management.

Mennonite Church Buildings, Inc.—Provides investment and financing for institutions and congregations. Also owns the building occupied by MMA offices.

PROGRAMS AND SERVICES

Fraternal benefits—a wide range of programs including: 1. matching grants to help local congregations aid members in need and to help meet needs in their communities, plus grants to help wtih health insurance premiums for missionaries and seminary students; and 2. educational resources to help congregations and small groups study stewardship and mutual aid issues including wellness, death and dying, the health care system, and more. These programs are made possible by MMA's special legal status as a fraternal benefit association. This allows money that would otherwise be paid as taxes to be used to benefit members without additional cost.

Personal protection— health insurance, life insurance, long-term care, disability, and physical damage coverage for autos

Group insurance— benefit programs for large and small groups

Financial services— investment opportunities through annuities and mutual funds, retirement programs, church loans, creative plans for supporting church-related missions and other charities, estate planning

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Date founded: 1945. Began as loan aid program for returning Civilian Public Service men following World War II.

Purpose and Function: Leads Mennonites and related groups toward greater practice of the biblical principles of stewardship and mutual aid. As an inter-Mennonite church organization, we offer members the opportunity to help each other by sharing financial risks and resources. To achieve this, MMA provides insurance products, financial services, charitable programs, and educational resources.

Groups served by MMA: MC, GC, MB, and other church bodies with historical Anabaptist roots. MMA reports quarterly to the Mennonite Church General Board.

Publications: Sharing, quarterly 20-page magazine with people-oriented views for Mennonite Mutual Aid members, pastors, congregational mutual aid appointees, and others who are interested; Tool Kit, bi-monthly newsletter about financial, health, lifestyle, and safety concerns for pastors, congregations, and others who are interested.

Staff: 225 in staff and field assignments.

Annual budget:

GENERAL INFORMATION AND STATISTICS

Date of organization: 1920

Mission statement: MCC is an agency of the Mennonite and Brethren in Christ churches in North America. MCC seeks to demonstrate God's love through committed women and men who work among people suffering from poverty, conflict, oppression, and natural disaster. MCC serves as a channel for interchange between churches and community groups where we work around the world and the North American churches who send us, so that all may grow and be transformed. MCC strives for peace, justice, and dignity of all people by sharing our experiences, resources, and faith in Jesus Christ.

Participating bodies: M and BIC conferences in the U.S. and Canada, as well as regional and provincial MCC organizations. For names of participating church bodies see MCC under codes for "Boards and Agencies" on page 6.

Publications: MCC Contact Letter, Intercom, Peace Office Newsletter, Washington Memo, Jottings, Committee on Women's Concerns Report

Workers: 935
Annual budget: $35,000,000

VICTIM OFFENDER RECONCILIATION PROGRAMS

Mennonite Central Committee helped pioneer the first Victim Offender Reconciliation Program (VORP) in Kitchener, Ont., in 1974. Now there are over 70 such programs in the U.S. and Canada. Similar programs also exist in England and Europe. Programs with Mennonite involvement are listed as follows. These community or church-based programs operate in cooperation with criminal courts to offer victims and offenders an opportunity to meet. These meetings, mediated by trained volunteers, allow participants to find out what happened, express their feelings, and work out a restitution contract. Participating bodies: Various community and church organizations.

Directory of Overseas Mennonite Churches and Programs

The following list of overseas Mennonite churches and programs was provided by the Council of International Ministries (CIM). Since CIM is an inter-Mennonite agency this listing includes churches and programs related to all of the participating Mennonite bodies in North America. The name of the specific sponsoring or fraternal North American organization is identified with each entry. Also listed for each is the name, address, and other information about the designated contact person.

For further information about overseas churches or programs, such as number of members and congregations, leaders, names of North American workers, and other details, contact the sponsoring agency. Names and addresses of CIM member agencies are listed in the "Directory of Mennonite and Inter-Mennonite Projects." Or contact Ron Yoder, secretary/treasurer of CIM, PO Box 370, Elkhart, IN 46515-0370 (219 294-7523; fax 219 294-8669).

Directory of Other Mennonite Bodies

This directory lists the Beachy Amish Church (BA), the Conservative Mennonite Conference (CM), and the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church (EP). These bodies relate to the Mennonite Church on a fraternal basis.

Within each body, congregations are listed alphabetically. Listed with the congregation is the person designated as the primary contact who carries the ministerial function code (1) as well as ministers who carry active responsibility (2). All other ministers are included only in the "Ministerial Directory" found with each body, after its organizational and congregational entries.

The purpose of this directory is to provide all the information necessary to contact a given congregation by mail or telephone without consulting other sections of the Yearbook. The mailing address and telephone number listed is the one designated by the congregation as its official contact. This may be the pastor's office, residence, meetinghouse, church office, or another location or person. The location (province/state and city) of the meetinghouse is provided in the "Directory of North American Congregations." (See page 6 for an explanation of the conference codes used.)

For an example of a complete congregational listing in this directory see the first page of the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations."

The code number assigned to the bishops and overseers designates congregational oversight. The number is also included with the congregational entry. This list includes bishop and overseer assignments in congregations where the bishop or overseer is not the pastor. Bishops are not included in this list if they are retired, without official duty, or are serving only in the congregation where they also are senior pastor.

The Mennonite Mosaic:
Identity and Modernization

Results of a 1989 survey of five Mennonite and Brethren in Christ denominations are evaluated here by J. Howard Kauffman and Leo Driedger. Responses are compared to a 1972 survey of the same groups.

The study shows what happens to a group that becomes more urban and geographically mobile and attains higher educational and socioeconomic status. Have Mennonites preserved their identity as a community while becoming more involved in the larger society? What enables this sense of community to continue? How can they cope with increasing pluralism, yet remain committed to the Anabaptist tradition?
Paper, $15.95; in Canada $19.95.

Report Congregational and Ministerial Changes

The Mennonite Yearbook maintains the official listing of Mennonite Church congregations and ministers. Should there be a change in the congregational address, telephone number, ministerial leadership, or any other details of its listing, please report these changes to the Mennonite Yearbook office as soon as possible. In order to enter changes properly the Mennonite Yearbook office needs the old information that is being replaced along with the new information which updates it.

The same request applies to ministers. Any change in the minister's address, telephone, office, function, congregational membership, conference affiliation, and other details are to be reported to the Mennonite Yearbook office as soon as possible. Please submit current information with the new information which replaces it.

Send all communications to 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683-1999, or call us at 412-887-8500; send it e-mail to HORSCH%5904477@mcimail.com; or send it via fax to 412-887-3111. Also notify your conference secretary or office of these changes. Your conference secretary or office and the Mennonite Yearbook office work together closely to insure the complete accuracy of congregational and ministerial listings.

All data on this table are for youth and students from congregations in North American conferences affiliated with Mennonite Church General Assembly (see list of conferences on Table 21); students from other Mennonite groups (including smaller Mennonite Church conferences and overseas conferences) and other-than-Mennonite students are not included in these numbers.

Numbers for Mennonite colleges and seminaries are for full-time students only; numbers for other colleges and universities may include some part-time students. (Information on attendance at other colleges and universities gathered by Student and Young Adult Services of Mennonite Board of Missions.)

Separate figures reported for Goshen College regular program and degree-completion program.

In addition to the Mennonite Church students of Table 22, the data in this table includes all other students. The first column for each school lists full-time students, and in the second column part-time students are added. Goshen College includes 33 degree-completion students in 1992, 35 in 1993, and 70 in 1994.

Some of the schools, especially the seminaries, have a significant ministry to students not taking course work for credit. These audit and extension students are not included in the numbers reported here.

Mennonite Church Ministerial Directory

This directory lists all ordained, licensed, or commissioned men and women who are members of the Mennonite Church in North America. It includes ministers of Mennonite Church conferences who do, and do not, participate in the program of Mennonite Church General Assembly. These are from congregations listed in the Directory of Conferences and Congregations, the Directory of Urban and Area Organizations and Congregations, and the Directory of Other Mennonite Church Conferences.

Ministers related to congregations listed in the Directory of Other Mennonite Bodies (Beachy Amish Church, Conservative Mennonite Conference, and Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church) are included immediately following their organizational and congregational entries.

The information provided for each minister is: name, four-digit individual identification code, name of spouse, address, telephone (while the home information is requested, some ministers prefer to list their office), office, year of ordination, function, year of birth, congregational name and number (if person carries function 1), conference affiliation. See example below. Where information is not available or not applicable, it is omitted.

Hungry, Thirsty, a Stranger: The MCC Experience by Robert S. Kreider and Rachel Waltner Goossen, Herald Press, 1988, 392 pages, $14.95 ($21.50 in Canada). "Should Christians be prudent or prophetic? pragmatic or faithful? Can we be both?" These issues illustrated by stories from each decade of MCC history, with episodes from six continents.

The Turning Point: How Persons of Conscience Brought About Major Change in the Care of America's Mentally Ill by Alex Sareyan, Herald Press, 1994, 314 pages, $16.95 ($24.25 in Canada). Chronicles the contributions made by conscientious objectors (COs) who, during World War II, volunteered for service in America's mental hospitals and state institutions for the developmentally disabled. Their experiences triggered the most significant crusade on behalf of the mentally ill in North America.

Extending the Table: A World Community Cookbook by Joetta Handrich Schlabach, Herald Press, 1991, 336 pages, $15.95 ($22.75 in Canada). A cookbook in the tradition of More-with-Less Cookbook. Sponsored by MCC. Winner of 1992 Silver Angel Award from Religion in Media.

A Life of Wholeness: Reflections on Abundant Living edited by Ann Raber, Herald Press, revised 1993, 160 pages, $7.95 ($11.35 in Canada). Sponsored by MMA, writers reflect on living abundantly—by seeing that this comes from having right relationships with each other and God, and by taking care of ourselves physically and spiritually, as well as our environment.

The Mennonite Mosaic: Identity and Modernization edited by J. Howard Kauffman and Leo Driedger, Herald Press, 1991, 308 pages, $15.95 ($22.75 in Canada). Documents where Mennonites and Brethren in Christ stand on issues of personal and social morality. Reports on ways members are coping with increasing pluralism while remaining committed to the Anabaptist way of life.

American Mennonites and the Great War, 1914-1918 by Gerlof D. Homan, Herald Press, 1994, 240 pages, $19.95 ($28.50 in Canada). The history of American Mennonites during World War I. It is the story of remaining faithful to beliefs and peace traditions during a time of mass hysteria and superpatriotism. Through sound scholarship and a gripping storyline, Homan inspires all readers Mennonites to follow the way of this earlier generation. Volume 34 in the Studies in Anabaptist and Mennonite History Series.

Titles are available through Provident and other Christian bookstores.
